❖ Your Natal Chart

Nai's chart opens with the Ascendant in Taurus, the mask the world meets first.

Now let us walk through each planet as a living thread of your story. The Sun is your core essence and life purpose sits in Taurus at 28.1°, resident in House 1 — physical body and outer persona — peregrine (acting in a neutral role). This places Sun's energy into the arena of physical body and outer persona, so its gifts and lessons show up there in your everyday life. The Moon is your inner feeling and need for safety sits in Libra at 17.4°, resident in House 5 — love and creativity — peregrine (acting in a neutral role). This places Moon's energy into the arena of love and creativity, so its gifts and lessons show up there in your everyday life. Mercury is how you think and communicate sits in Taurus at 3.4°, resident in House 12 — subconscious and surrender — peregrine (acting in a neutral role). This places Mercury's energy into the arena of subconscious and surrender, so its gifts and lessons show up there in your everyday life. Venus is love and what draws you in sits in Gemini at 10.2°, resident in House 1 — physical body and outer persona — peregrine (acting in a neutral role). This places Venus's energy into the arena of physical body and outer persona, so its gifts and lessons show up there in your everyday life. Mars is your drive and how you take action sits in Virgo at 19.3°, resident in House 5 — love and creativity — peregrine (acting in a neutral role). This places Mars's energy into the arena of love and creativity, so its gifts and lessons show up there in your everyday life. Jupiter is wisdom and growth sits in Aquarius at 21.2°, resident in House 10 — career and reputation — peregrine (acting in a neutral role). This places Jupiter's energy into the arena of career and reputation, so its gifts and lessons show up there in your everyday life. Saturn is discipline, lessons, and life structure sits in Aries at 16.1°, resident in House 11 — friends and wishes — in its fall (power squeezed, handle with care). This places Saturn's energy into the arena of friends and wishes, so its gifts and lessons show up there in your everyday life. Between the planets, a few relationships stand out: Moon and Saturn stand in opposition (orb 1.3°), a tension or flow that colors how those two parts of you meet. Moon and Jupiter stand in trine (orb 3.8°), a tension or flow that colors how those two parts of you meet. Jupiter and Saturn stand in sextile (orb 5.1°), a tension or flow that colors how those two parts of you meet. Venus and Saturn stand in sextile (orb 5.9°), a tension or flow that colors how those two parts of you meet. Sun and Jupiter stand in square (orb 6.8°), a tension or flow that colors how those two parts of you meet. Elementally, earth leads your chart while water is thinnest. earth brings stability and grounded action energy; nurturing a little more water would round out the picture.

◆ Your Tarot Cards

Past

The Devil (Reversed)

The light is returning and you begin to see the chains that bind you. You can walk out whenever you realize it.

Present

The World

A cycle of your life is complete; you truly did it. A wider stage awaits; go forth.

Future

The Star (Reversed)

Your confidence dims for a while. Do not let self-doubt extinguish the star that still shines.
